HOLY NAME PARADERS' TRIP TO COST $10,000

"Biggest Thing in Order's History," Says President Doyle.

The biggest parade in the history of the Holy Name Society will take place in Baltimore on October 15. It will start at 2:30 o'clock. There will be more than 8,000 Washington marchers, representing thirty-three parishes. They will begin their march in Washington, assembling near the Union Station at 12 o'clock to board the train, which will leave for Baltimore at 1 o'clock. They will march directly from the Baltimore station to their place in the line. It will require several cars in seven sections of ten cars each to transport the delegation.

John Hadley Doyle, president of the Washington section, says the trip will cost more than $10,000 for transportation alone. Capt. Harry Walsh has been selected marshal.

"It will be the biggest thing in the history of the order," said Mr. Doyle last night. "All the Washington clergy will attend this city being the only one which can boast of such distinction."

A Baltimore law prohibits instrumental music on the streets on Sunday. Therefore no band will accompany the paraders. The marchers will sing such songs as "Star Spangled Banner," "Onward, Christian Soldiers," and "Holy God, We Praise Thy Name."

The Washington delegation will wear no uniforms.

In the first week of October a mass meeting will be held at which are complete arrangements. Bishop Corrigan of Baltimore, moderator of the Holy Name Society, will attend. One of the purposes of the meeting will be to organize separate battalions of Washington marchers and appoint officers.

MILITARY SOCIETIES NEED NEW INSIGNIA

Must Avoid Similarity to Army Emblems Under New Law.

Since the passage of the National Defense Act by Congress, which prohibits the use by military and other societies of the arrangement of insignias on shoulder-loops, as adopted by the United States army, hundreds of new designs are being made by the map division of the War College Division of the army. This work requires unusual originality, careful consideration of new designs, and necessary to escape any possible conflict with the government designs. While there are thousands of possible designs which can be adopted, many must be rejected because of their intricacies.

It is the desire of the designers to make a perfect designation, and at the same time produce an insignia, the simplicity of which will make the rank discernable at a glance.

For more than thirty years, Gen. Charles H. O'Connell, chief of the map division, has been in charge of this branch. He is assisted by Frank Essex, and eight draftsmen.

The Map Division of the army is located in the War College, at the foot of Seventh street. Besides making and drawing designs, the division makes and submits for approval all maps used by the United States army, showing topographical bearings.

Gen. O'Connell was found at his desk Saturday, busily engaged in translating the markings on Chinese maps. Maps from every nation of the world are transferred into English in this manner.

SHIVERS IN STORE FOR THIN SUIT WEARERS

Thermometer and Straw Hats Fall Together This Week.

According to officials at the Weather Bureau, the coming week will be quite a trial to those who are preparing to tempt fate and cling to a little old summer suit and straw hat. Likewise, the judgment of those who have already gone on vacation, and are now expected to forecast the days of harvest moon and pronounced melancholy.

For the South Atlantic section, where Washington is situated, the forecast states that, aside from slight rains the first half of the week will be generally fair and of moderate temperature, but toward the close of the week the chill of the atmosphere will obtain the upper hand, and thermometers will register much lower marks.

A word to the wise, etc., so dig down in among the moth-baited garments, and revive the memories of the gloomy seasons of former years.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jones, of E street southeast, have returned from a trip to Atlantic City.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Simons left yesterday afternoon for Norfolk, Va., where they will spend the coming week.

H. C. Terry, of the City Postoffice, recently returned, by water, from a trip to Baltimore.

Cloyd Tavenner, foreman of the mailing division of the Postoffice, is on a two weeks' vacation. Mr. Tavenner is taking an extended automobile trip.

Assistant Attorney General Pitts has left Washington to attend a business engagement in Cleveland.

Rev. Edward J. Sweeney, of St. Aloysius Church, has been appointed moderator of the Aloysius Club. Father Sweeney has also been appointed a professor at Gonzaga College.

Mr. Gustav Kopsch, of Plainfield, New Jersey, is making a short visit in Washington.

Miss Mabel Towner, director of the Virginia Avenue Playground, will give a party at her home next Wednesday evening, to the winning ball team of the Midget League.

Mr. William Miltenberger, of New Orleans, is at Narragansett Pier for the fall months.

Mr. Greer Mareschall, of Mobile, who has been employed as a patent examiner, has gone to Houston, Texas, to practice law.

Mr. Branch Bird, a last year's graduate of the George Washington University, has been touring the West.

Miss Bess Burton has been appointed clerk in the Department of Playgrounds.

Miss Edith Athey, who spent the summer in the Adirondacks, is home.

Georgia E. Miller returned last week from a summer vacation in the Middle West.

Miss Helen McCleod Clift is in Atlantic City.

Howard L. Young and Robert Ballenger will remain as soprano soloists at the Washington Episcopal Cathedral at Mt. St. Albans.

Miss Beulah Chambers has returned from visiting friends in Canada and New York.

DECLINE IN MOVING MARKS FALL SEASON

Convenience of Modern Washington Apartments Keep Tenants Satisfied.

Washington's fall moving season is at hand, but there's not much moving. Washingtonians don't move as often as they did a few years ago.

Charles W. Fairfax, realty broker, with offices at 1342 New York avenue northwest, is authority for the statement. And Mr. Fairfax ought to know for his weekly rent list is of formidable length.

"No, Washingtonians don't move as often as they used to," said Mr. Fairfax last night. "A few years ago there was great unrest among tenants throughout the city. But the advances made in the construction of apartment houses and private dwellings have eliminated this spirit of unrest. Modern conveniences, such as electric light, steam heat, sanitary plumbing arrangements, artistic decoration and scientific home planning have made even the least expensive of the modern dwellings and apartments extremely desirable and moving has decreased to a surprising extent."

"Most of the new apartments and private houses are being rented to persons who have just moved to Washington, or to persons who are quitting quarters where they have lived for so long that the structures have become antiquated. There are very few persons shifting from modern structure to modern structure."

"The moving season usually is at its height during the latter part of September. This is due in part to the fact that the leasing year for most apartments and houses commences October 1 or November 1. It is also the period when hundreds of people are returning from their summer vacations, and are planning to settle down for the winter. This year the moving season will be delayed several weeks, owing to the delay in the opening of schools caused by fear of an infantile paralysis epidemic."

"The political situation is booming the realty market. Many realty brokers and realty investors feel certain that there will be a change in administration, and this is looked forward to as a business asset. This view is maintained not primarily because they believe the Republicans would foster business to any larger extent, but because the reaction of a change is always profitable."

BOARD SEEKS LOCATION FOR AVIATION STATION

College Park Under Consideration Despite Recent Adverse Decision.

Tracts adjacent to a number of military reservations will be inspected by a board appointed by Secretary Baker, of the War Department, to select suitable grounds for aviation work. Announcement of the board will consider the question of availability of land at College Park indicates that the recent decision of the department against that site may be rescinded.

Congress appropriated $14,000,000 for aviation purposes at its recent session. The tract which eventually is selected will become an aviation experimental station.

Members of the board are: Lieut. Col. George O. Squier, Signal Corps, chief of aviation section; Capt. Richard C. Marshall, Jr., Quartermaster Corps; Capt. Virgil W. Clark and Capt. Thomas DeWitt Milling, Signal Corps.

NEW MAINE SENATOR SOCIALLY WELCOME

There will be a new Senator from Maine in Washington this winter—Col. Frederick Hale, who comes by his political abilities naturally.

Senator Hale is a bachelor and is well known in Washington. He has since been a frequent visitor. His many natural proclivities will make him a valuable addition to the social life of the city.

Another new member of the Senatorial set will be Kenneth D. McKellar, former Representative from Tennessee, who has defeated Senator Luke Lea for the Democratic Senatorial nomination. The Democratic nomination, of course, means election in Tennessee.

INVESTING PLAN AIMS TO ENCOURAGE THRIFT

Federal National Bank Offers Bond Buying Opportunity.

One of the best saving propositions that has ever been advanced to the people of this city is the bond buying opportunity recently adopted by the Federal National Bank.

"The object in offering this partial investment plan to the public is that we feel that it is the plain duty of our bank to give substantial help and sound financial advice to the people of this community; to assist them to save money and to get ahead financially."

"Saving the cash itself is a splendid plan, but saving it by investing, as offered in our partial payment plan, increases the determination of people to keep on saving, and it gives more profit, too. The plan of buying sound conservative bonds, paying for them in small sums as the money is available, has met with instantaneous success, because the investor realizes that he is not only accumulating a surplus, but is earning five per cent or more on every dollar put in, from the day he starts."

"For instance, if they invest $20 to start, they earn five per cent on that $20 at once, if their monthly payments are $5, $6, or $7, or whatever the sum may be, they earn five per cent from the dates the payments are made."

"The psychological effect of it is that they realize they are becoming the owners of sound investments. The sense of proprietorship is a tremendous incentive to save. Nobody doubts that a community is healthiest when its people are thrifty."

"In order to afford every opportunity, and to encourage them to save the same rate of interest as the bank's preferred payments that they receive on their bonds. There is but one real restriction, and that is as to the grade of the security. It must be high for the benefit of the investor as well as the bank."
